Summary of Contents

	Page
Preface	v
Acknowledgements	ix
Table of Cases	xxxi
Table of Model Rules of Professional Conduct	xliii
Chapter
1. An Overview of the Pretrial Process: "And You Call Yourself a Trial Lawyer?"	1
2. Interviewing and the Establishment of the Attorney–Client Relationship: "How Do You Do?"	10
3. Pretrial Planning and Investigation: "Let's Start at the Beginning."	57
4. Drafting the Complaint: "Let's Make a Federal Case Out of This!"	109
5. Responses to the Complaint: "Daisy, Daisy, Give Me Your Answer Do."	186
6. The Scope of Civil Discovery: "Can There Be Too Much of a Good Thing?"	219
7. Interrogatories: "Ask Me a Question, Any Question."	310
8. Depositions Upon Oral Examination: "Can We Talk?"	346
9. Requests to Produce, for Admissions, and for Physical and Mental Examinations: "Your Request Is My Command."	390
10. The Intervention of the Court into the Discovery Process: "If We Can't Agree, I'm Going to the Judge."	444
11. The Presentation and Argument of Motions: "Who Gets to Move First?"	475
12. Motions for Summary Judgment: "Some of the Best Witnesses Never Testify in the Courtroom."	515
13. The Final Pretrial Conference, Pretrial Orders, and Judicial Management of the Pretrial Process: "Who's in Charge Here?"	543
14. Negotiation and Settlement: "I'll Take the Bigger Half."	577
15. Alternative Dispute Resolution: "Are You Sure You Want to File a Lawsuit?"	639
Index	681