

Indice

Preface	1
---------	---

PART ONE

Essentialism in contemporary 'analytic' philosophy

I. Essentialism and modal logic	7
1. Quine's Essentialism	7
2. Possible worlds and Essentialism	14
3. A specimen of Neo-Aristotelian Essentialism: Brody	23
4. The rigidity of (the terms for) natural kinds	28
5. Essentialism and necessity in Aristotle	36
II. Essentialism and Metaphysics	41
1. Material particulars from a synchronic point of view	41
1.1. Substratum theories	41
1.2. Bundle theories	43
1.3. Aristotelian theories	45
2. Material particulars from a diachronic point of view	50
2.1. Perdurantism	50
2.2. Endurantism	51

PART TWO

Metaphysics Z: Contemporary Interpretations

I. The philosophical problems of Metaphysics Z	61
1. Metaphysics Z and the notion of essence	61
2. Essence as property and essence as principle	65
3. Individuation and unity	70
4. Essence and definition	74
5. Particular versus universal forms	79
6. Compatibilism and incompatibilism	83

II. Matter and form	89
Introduction	89
1. The matter/form predication	92
2. Accidental predication and the theory of layers of matter and form	97
3. Difficulties with the accidentalist view	102
4. Sellars and the projectivist view of form and matter	112
5. Scaltsas' substantial holism	120
6. Two conceptions of matter in Metaphysics Z-H-Θ .	127
III. Definition	135
1. The question of definition	135
2. Form as the primary object of definition	141
3. The definition of the composite	150
4. Parts of definition	160
IV. Individual and universal forms	167
1. Z's puzzle	167
2. Theories of particular forms	173
3. Bearers of properties and identity across time	179
4. The textual evidence in favour of particular forms	187
5. Universal forms	192
6. Two types of universal	196
7. Philosophical issues reconsidered	206
Bibliography	213