

CONTENTS

Preface	17
Luigi Guerra
Introduction	19
Anna Rita Addressi, Susan Young
Keynote: Music, development and communication	21
Ian Cross
PART I: SPOKEN SESSIONS	33
Chapter I: Interaction and intercultural studies	35
There is no musicality without intentionality.
Coming back to the origins of human musicality	35
Michel Imberty
Musical interactions at the nursery: Contents and pedagogical strategies	43
Anna Pileri
Me and you, me with you: Observation of vocal interactions among very young partners	51
Laura Ferrari, Anna Rita Addressi
Time to play: Developing interculturally sensitive approaches to music in children's centres serving predominantly Muslim communities	61
Susan Young, Alison Street

Chapter II: Creativity and performance	71
“This is my concert!”. Characteristics of musical pieces initiated and performed by four-to six-year-old children in an early childhood educational setting	71
Claudia Gluschkof
The Suzuki Method. Music as a magnifying glass for viewing the world	81
Ann Stupay, Elio Galvagno, Fiorenza Rosi, Virginia Ceri
Improvisation as an essential performance practice, forming the habit: The pedagogical necessity for musical improvisation	89
Graham Coatman
Musical creativity	91
Ernesto Ardita
Chapter III: Music and the others arts
Sign, sound and image: The non-verbal languages of neonatal communication	99
Chiara Sintoni
Towards an elementary musical theatre	107
Maria Grazia Bellia, Franca Ferrari
Laboratory movement-rhythm-affectivity through the Biodanza Method	109
Francesca Minigher, Simona Serina
Arts education in Cyprus: Developing artistic activities in early childhood settings	119
Nopi Nicolau Telemachou, Andri Savva
Chapter IV: Music development and perception	127
Investigating the amodal perception in early childhood: Experiences in nurseries	127
Gianni Nuti, Manuela Filippa
Development of “predictive perception” of music in children	135
Valeri Brainin
Chapter V: Style sensitivity and emotion	143
Developing concepts of style sensitivity in young children	143
Nigel Marshall, Kagari Shibazaki, Anna Rita Addressi
Exploring the relationship between musical activities and emotional alphabetisation in educational (non-scholastic) contexts	145
Lara Corbacchini
Chapter VI: Listening	147
Infants and babies as the audience of philharmonic concerts	147
Barbara Kaminska, Adriana Kortas
From the onomatopoeias to musical form: Resources of circularity of listening and performance	155
Paolo Somigli

Verbal language, music and didactics of listening Nicola Badolato	163
Listening to biotic sounds: A pilot study Daniela Lenti Boero, Fulvia Ortalda, Luciana Bottoni, Silvia Miraglia, Manuela Filippa	173
Chapter VII: Teacher's knowledge and training	179
A study on the professional concern level of the early childhood teacher candidates studying musical teaching in Turkey Sena Gursen Otacioglu	179
An early learning TaTaMus -model in young adult's learning environment Sini Nykänen	189
The younger, the best: Teachers' social representations of piano teaching in early age Sandro Marrocu, Anna Rita Addressi	199
Creativity in teaching/learning of music in preschool Anita Vizina-Nilsena	201
Chapter VIII: Theoretical approaches to early childhood music education	211
How can neuroscience affect the theoretical concept of and practical application to early childhood music learning? Wilfried Gruhn	211
Concepts of intrinsic motivation and their relevance for music education Charlotte Fröhlich	221
Silence, music, listening: Meanings and educational implications starting from the scientific pedagogy of Maria Montessori Manuela Gallerani	227
A dialogical view on language, meaning and music-making Olle Zandén	235
Chapter IX: Music, languages, literacy	243
Music as basis for teaching and learning in a multi-lingual preschool in Sweden Anna Ehrlin	243
The effects of phonological and musical training in phonological awareness and naming speed of preschoolers with different first language Lucía Herrera Torres, Oswaldo Lorenzo Quiles, Roberto Cremades Andreu	253
The sound of the alphabet: Teaching literacy through music. A research project into Italian nursery schools Silvia Azzolin	263
Chapter X: Musical experiences	275
Musical Moonbeams: A model of partnership Nancy Evans	275

To see the voices in the “MUSITAF” A musical-cultural programme for young children Hagit Myers	283
EMI: Educación Musical Infantil . The early childhood music education project of the Barenboim-Said Foundation in Andalusia Joseph Thapa	293
‘Music is when sounds come together nicely’ (Amira, five years). Researching preschool music education that is based on the image of the competent child Melissa Bremmer, Annemieke Huisingh	295
Chapter XI: Music, communication and babyhood	303
Music as a means of communication in the child’s first social interaction Fiorella Cappelli	303
Encouraging musical communication between babies and parents: Report of a case study from Corfu Zoe Dionyssiou	313
The Belly-Button Chord. Impacts of pre- and postnatal music education on early interaction Kaarina Marjanen	323
The benefits of parent-infant music courses as perceived by mothers belonging to two different age groups Helga Rut Gudmundsdottir	335
Chapter XII: Music in everyday life	343
Young girls singing with karaoke at home Susan Young	343
Young children as competent creative music-makers Bo Nilsson	353
Mussorgsky Family Project Ludger Hofmann-Engl	355
Recorded music in children’s everyday lives to play a soundtrack Igeborg Lunde Vestad	365
Chapter XIII: Technologies and music education	375
The digital world of children: Integrating music and maths in preschool education Theano Koutsoupidou	375
The effect of computer games on music education in primary school music lessons: An example from a private school in Turkey Sibel Çoban, Nilgün Öcalir	385
An interactive sound recognition game for primary school children Leen De Bruyn, Dirk Moelants, Pieter Coussement, Marc Leman	397

E-Lab, a new learning environment for developing children's musical creativity Stefano Luca	409
Chapter XIV: Voice and song	421
The influence on music development of singing to infants with/without words Johannella Tafuri, Laura Ferrari, Maria Perri	421
The vocal development in the first year of life: How do infants communicate? Kerstin Leimbrink	423
Singing openings of young deaf children using cochlear implants: The song they move, the song they feel, the song they share Maria Yennari	431
Learning processes in the study of the singing voice Alessia Rita Vitale	443
 PART II: SYMPOSIA	 453
 Chapter I: The development of reflective communities of practice in early childhood music-making	 455
Introduction	455
The place of music in developing communities of practice among Children's Centre professionals Jessica Pitt	457
How can we encourage emotional intelligence through music making? Margareta Burrell	467
My world of music, our world of music: Musical training with early years practitioners Karen MacKenzie	477
The development of a shared rationale for using music with parents and their babies Alison Street	487
 Chapter II: Audiation, listening and musical performance	 497
Introduction	497
The development of the ability of audiation in listening to and performing music Andrea Apostoli	499
The "line" and the "texture": From listening to musical theory and back Stefano Melis, Giorgio Pagannone	505
Learning performance through critical exercise Carla Cuomo	519

Chapter III: Sound explorations from the ages of 10 to 36 months:
The ontogenesis of musical conducts	527
Introduction	527
Analysing the first spontaneous musical behaviour:
A pedagogical and anthropological objective	529
François Delalande
Nido Sonoro: A three-year research on children's musical conducts.
Quantitative and qualitative results	537
Silvia Cornara
Exploring the sound of instruments in early infancy:
Finding something new and developing the musical idea. The amplification	545
Manuela Filippa
Transport of sound producing gestures to another object	553
Giorgio Minardi
Questions of style in children aged 10 to 36 months	559
Cecilia Pizzorno, Luisella Rosatti
Acoustic relations between children and adults	567
Davide Donelli
PART III: POSTERS	573
Chapter I: Planning	575
A sweet spoon's sound	575
Barbara Bedei
Moving with the music at the nursery and in the kindergarten of Bologna, Italy	581
Patrizia Naldi
Accordage: Voice, sounds, rhythms, gestures, music cradling birth and growth	585
Anna Pileri
Constructing the musical experiences memory of children in nursery	589
Elisa Porcinai
An intercultural sound project at a kindergarten	593
Elena Rigamonti
The musical childhood of an Italian songwriter	595
Francesca Tronconi
Chapter II: Research	597
Social representations of "musical child" held by university students	597
Anna Rita Addressi, Felice Carugati
Musical signals and their visual metaphors: How do young children transfer auditory into visual patterns	609
Liesbeth Bodyn

Number concept and rhythmic response in early childhood Laura Habegger	611
Observation of musical interactions between mother and child Elisabetta Piras	619
Musical movement representation in early childhood music education José Retra	621
Is music a relevant tool in deaf children's auditory education? Françoise Rochette, Emmanuel Bigand	623
Musical interaction between adult/child aged 0-3 during change of nappy routine at the day care centre Lorna Edith Volpi, Anna Rita Addressi	625
PART IV: WORKSHOPS	635
Musica in Culla (Cradle Music). Workshop designed for children from 0 to 36 months Paola Anselmi	637
Musical communication in early childhood Fiorella Cappelli	639
The gesture, the music, the artistic dimension of the movement Marina Maffioli	641
PART V: DEMONSTRATIONS	649
The children and the Continuator Anna Rita Addressi, Laura Ferrari, Diber Benghi, Fabio Regazzi, Marco Marchini, François Pachet	651
Body percussion as a teaching resource in the treatment of dyslalia in Spanish children Roberto Cremades Andreu	665
Children's emotions and innate artistic capacities as a basis for learning in early childhood music education Laura Huhtinen-Hildén	673
About plastic ducks and hands and feet. Some practical results from the Music is Movement investigation José Retra	677
Author Index	679