

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION – THE BIG PICTURE

CHAPTER 1: NEW ZEALAND'S FORESHORE AND SEABED, THE TERRITORIAL SEA AND THE EXCLUSIVE ECONOMIC ZONE Foreshore and seabed maps

Very little of the foreshore and seabed is privately owned

CHAPTER 2: THE MYTH OF "TREATY PARTNERSHIP"

CHAPTER 3: THE COURT OF APPEAL PULLS THE TRIGGER

The Ngati Apa Appeal case

Share of Aquaculture or the Commercial Sea Fishery not the issue

The Labour Government's response – 2003-2004

2005 National's "Iwi-Kiwi" billboard

Coastal Coalition's "Iwi-Kiwi" billboard. John Key's U-turn

National's 2008 secret and opportunist U-turn

CHAPTER 4: NATIONAL'S SHAM REVIEW AND PUBLIC "CONSULTATION"

The Review Panel

The Consultation Document

Customary Title

Non-territorial customary interests

Public commons, "public domain", "land owned by no-one"

The Public Meetings

The Iwi Leaders Group views

National's major new concessions

CHAPTER 5: THE PUBLIC FIGHTBACK – BIRTH OF THE COASTAL COALITION

CHAPTER 6: MINERALS

Land "owned by no-one" allows iwi privatisation

CHAPTER 7 CHRISTOPHER FINLAYSON – THE "MEMBER FOR NGAI TAHU"

CHAPTER 8: WAHI TAPU

CHAPTER 9: HOLDING THE PUBLIC TO RANSOM

CHAPTER 10: THE REPLACEMENT BILL

CHAPTER 11: THE ULTIMATE COST

CHAPTER 12: CONCLUSION - THE POLITICIANS AGAINST THE PEOPLE

What you can do

APPENDICES:

Critiques of National's proposed give-away of the foreshore and seabed

Appendix 1: Time to draw a line in the sand - David Round, April 2010

Appendix 2: The Great Foreshore and Seabed Sellout, Michael Coote, July 2010

Appendix 3: The foreshore smell has become deafening – Professor Roger Bowden, June 2010,

Appendix 4: Hypocrisy or deceit, or both? Murray McCully on two standards of citizenship, December 2003