

Part I: Toward a Knowledge-based Economy: Dynamics of the Singapore Success Story	1
Dynamics of the Singapore Success Story	3
Musings of a Singapore Administrator	9
From Third World to First?	21
Strategic Pragmatism	27
The Strategic Pragmatism of China and Singapore	35
China, Japan, Singapore: Three Development Perspectives	43
A Socratic Dialogue: Global Competition in a Knowledge-based World	47
The Ministry of National Development in the 21st Century	51
The Role of the Ministry of Finance in Singapore's Economic Development	59
Exporting Knowledge: Can Singapore Compete?	65
Looking within for Solutions: Building and Exporting Our Knowledge	73
The Bukit Timah Dialogue	79
The Development Economics of Emergent Countries	83

Part II: Pillars of the Knowledge-based Economy 91

Political and institutional pillars

Foreword to Management of Success: Singapore Revisited	93
Singapore Elites for the 21st Century	99
“Sense of Urgency” Drove Creative Ideas	109
Reporting: Then and Now	113

Educational and social pillars

Economics and Economists in the Public Administration of Singapore	119
On Thinking in an Enlightened Society	131
Of Government, Innovation, and the Social Sector: An Interview with Ngiam Tong Dow	137
Individual Rights and Public Interest in Development: Singapore’s Experience	145
HDB Should Also Build Condos	155
A Winning Formula, “But We Overdid It”	165
Singapore in the New World	171

Financial and banking pillars

The World’s First Venture Capitalist	177
Singapore Banking in the 21st Century	185

Part III: Implications of the Singapore
Success Story to China 191

Is China’s Growth Sustainable?	193
The Selection of China’s Top Leaders	197
Land Reform and Sustainable Growth	199
Singapore–China Collaboration and Partnership in Science and Technology: Possibilities?	203