

Chapter 1

REAL SECTOR PROPAGATION OF THE RECENT GLOBAL FINANCIAL CRISIS: AN INTEGRATIVE REPORT

By Reza Siregar and C.S. Lim, Vincent

1.	Background and Motivation	1
2.	Taking Stock of Economic Wide Impacts of the Recent Global Financial Crisis	7
2.1	Capital Flows	7
2.2	Tourism	10
2.3	Export Performance	15
3.	Trade Collapse: Demand versus Financing	24
3.1	Literature Review on Trade Financing	24
3.2	Empirical Approach	27
3.3	Empirical Results	28
4.	Selected Policy Perspectives and Concluding Remarks	32
	References	37

Chapter 2

PROPAGATION OF REAL SHOCKS IN THE SEACEN ECONOMIES: CAMBODIA'S GARMENT EXPORT

By Som Kossom

1.	Brief Introduction	41
2.	Backgrounds on Economic Landscapes	42
2.1	Background	42

2.2	Real GDP growth	42
2.3	Inflation	43
2.4	Banking Sector	43
2.5	Globalization and Pattern of Trades Interdependence	48
2.6	Services	49
2.7	Employment Rate	49
2.8	Dollarization	50
3.	The Sub-prime Financial Crisis	51
3.1	Degree of the Crisis on Cambodia	51
3.2	Cambodia Export and Import Performance	52
3.3	Trade Credit	53
4.	Literature Reviews	54
5.	Model Specification	55
6.	Data and Empirical Testing	57
6.1	Data	57
6.2	Unit-root Property	58
7.	Estimation and Results	60
8.	Policy Implication	63
9.	Conclusion	64
	References	65

Chapter 3

PROPAGATION OF REAL SHOCKS IN THE SEACEN ECONOMIES: IMPACT OF GLOBAL FINANCIAL CRISIS AND TRADE CREDIT ON INDONESIA'S EXPORT PERFORMANCE

By Harmanta

Abstract	67
1. Introduction	68
2. Background of Economic Landscape	69

2.1	Indonesian Economic Landscape	69
2.2	Globalisation and Patterns of Trade Interdependence: Indonesian Case	73
3.	Impact of 2008/09 Global Financial Crisis on Indonesian Economy	74
3.1	Extent of Global Crisis Impact on Indonesia	74
3.2	The 2008 Global Financial Crisis and 1997 Asian Financial Crisis	76
3.3	Indonesian Exports and Imports during 2008 Global Financial Crisis	78
3.4	Trade Financing During the 2008 Global Financial Crisis	79
4.	A Review of the Related Literature to Indonesia	82
4.1	External Influences on Indonesia's Exports and Imports	82
4.2	Role of Trade Credit on Trade Performance during 2008 Global Financial Crisis	83
5.	Research Methodology	86
5.1.	Model Specification	86
5.2.	Data and Empirical Testing	88
6.	Research Findings and Policy Implications / Recommendation	90
6.1	Research Findings and Analysis	90
6.2	Policy Implications and Recommendation	101
7.	Conclusion	103
	References	104

Chapter 4

PROPAGATION OF REAL SHOCKS IN THE SEACEN ECONOMIES: MALAYSIA

By Anthony CK Tan

1.	Introduction	109
2.	Background on Malaysia's economic landscape	111
2.1	A Brief Review of Malaysia's Macroeconomic Performance (1980-2009)	111
2.2	Patterns of Trade and Trade Interdependence	113

3.	The Global Recession and its Implications on the Malaysian Economy	116
3.1	Export Performance during the Global Recession	116
3.2	Propagation of Shocks to the Real Economy	120
3.3	Trade Financing During the Global Recession	123
3.4	Brief Comparison between Export Performance and Availability of Trade Financing during the Global Recession and the Asian Financial Crisis	124
4.	Literature Review	127
5.	Research Methodology and Discussion of Results	130
5.1	Qualitative Approach	130
5.2	Quantitative Approach	134
6.	Conclusion	139
	References	141
	Appendix I: Methods of International Trade Settlement	144
	Appendix II: Export Performance by Major Market and Products (1998 Versus 2009)	146
	Appendix III: Expected Signs and Rationale of the Coefficient Estimates	147

Chapter 5

PROPOGATION OF REAL SHOCKS IN THE SEACEN ECONOMIES: THE CASE OF MONGOLIA

By Bumchimeg Gungaa

1.	Introduction	149
2.	Economic Landscapes	150
2.1	External Sector	151
2.2	Fiscal Sector	153
2.3	Monetary Policy, Inflation and Interest Rate	154
2.4	Financial Sector	155

3.	Sub-prime Financial Crisis	155
3.1	Impact of the Sub-prime Financial Crisis	155
3.2	The Difference from the Asian Financial Crisis	159
4.	Literature Review	161
5.	Research Methodology	162
5.1	Impact of the Sub-prime Crisis on Exports	162
5.2	Impact of the Sub-prime Crisis on the Banking Sector	165
6.	Policy Recommendation	166
6.1	Counter-cyclical Macroeconomic Policy to Ease “Dutch Disease” in the Economy	167
6.2	Effective Exchange Rate Policy	168
6.3	Banking Sector Resilience	168
6.4	Export Diversification	169
7.	Conclusion	169
	References	170
	Appendix	173

Chapter 6

PROPAGATION OF REAL SHOCKS IN MYANMAR

By Win Win Than

1.	Introduction	177
2.	Background on Economic Landscape	178
2.1	Economic Growth	178
2.2	Monetary and Financial Development	180
2.3	Inflation	181
2.4	Fiscal Development	181
2.5	External Development	182
2.6	Exchange Rate	183
2.7	Internal Financial Shocks in Myanmar	183

3.	The Impact of the Recent Global Financial Crisis	184
3.1	Recent Global Financial Crisis's Impact on Tourism Sector	184
3.2	The Climate of Foreign Direct Investments	186
3.3	The Financial Crisis Impact on Trade Sector	187
3.4	Global Financial Crisis Impact on Monetary Sector	187
3.5	Financial Crisis Impact on Myanmar's Labour Market and Remittances	188
3.6	Global Financial Crisis Impact on Domestic Manufacturing Production	188
3.7	Trade Credit and Trade Performance	189
4.	Policy Implications and Response Measures	189
4.1	Foreign Trade Policy	190
4.2	Industry Policy	190
4.3	Monetary and Fiscal Policy	191
4.4	Foreign Exchange Regulation in Myanmar	191
4.5	Overseas Employment Law	191
4.6	The State Response to Employment Opportunities	192
5.	Concluding Remarks	192
	References	193

Chapter 7

THE EFFECTS OF THE GLOBAL FINANCIAL CRISIS AND PROPAGATION OF REAL SHOCKS IN PAPUA NEW GUINEA

By Jeffrey Yabom

1.	Introduction	195
2.	Economic Landscape and Developments Since the 1990s	196
2.1	Economic Growth	197
2.2	Inflation	198
2.3	Fiscal Operations and Public Debt	199
2.4	Exchange Rate	201
3.	The Impact of Sub-Prime Financial Crisis	202
3.1	Financial Sector	202
3.2	Private Sector	204
3.3	Export Sector	205

3.4	Asian Financial Crisis	208
3.5	Pattern of Trade and Openness	210
4.	Literature Review	212
5.	Research Methodology	215
5.1	Theoretical Model Specification	215
5.2	Data & Methodology	215
5.3	Empirical Testing	216
6.	Policy Implications and Recommendations	220
7.	Conclusion	224
	References	226

Chapter 8

PROPAGATION OF REAL SHOCKS IN THE PHILIPPINES

By Roy R. Hernandez

1.	Introduction	229
2.	Background on Economic Landscapes	230
3.	The Sub-prime Financial Crisis	234
3.1	Market Volatility	239
3.2	Balance of Payments	239
3.3	Trade Performance	241
3.4	Direction of Trade	243
3.5	Trade by Commodity Composition	244
3.6	Trade Credits	246
3.7	Tourism	248
4.	Review of Related Literature	250
5.	Research Methodology	252
5.1	Empirical Testing: Export Growth Model	252
5.2	Test for Total Exports	255
5.3	Test for Manufacturing Exports	255
5.4	Test for Agricultural Exports	259

6.	Conclusion and Recommendations	260
6.1	Policy Recommendations	261
	References	264

Chapter 9

PROPAGATION OF REAL SHOCKS IN THE SEACEN ECONOMIES: SRI LANKA'S EXPERIENCE

By M.K. Jayawardena

1.	Introduction	267
2.	Background on Economic Landscape	268
3.	The Sub-prime Financial Crisis	275
3.1	To What Degree Sri Lanka Was Affected?	275
3.2	How Was This Crisis Different from the Asian Financial Crisis of 1997? Performance of Exports and Imports	280
3.3	Compare and Contrast the Performance of Trade Sectors during the 1997 Crisis and the Current Crisis	285
4.	Literature Review	285
5.	Model Specification	289
5.1	Expected Values of Determinants	291
5.2	Data Sources and Methods of Derivation	292
5.3	Trend Analysis and Empirical Results	293
5.4	Interpretation of Results	298
6.	Policy Implications	300
7.	Concluding Remarks	305
	References	307

Chapter 10

THE ROLE OF TRADE FINANCING IN CHINESE TAIPEI'S EXPORTS DURING SUB-PRIME CRISIS WITH AN ASSESSMENT OF COUNTER-CRISIS POLICIES

By Wei-Cheng Miao

1. Introduction	309
2. Background on Economic Landscapes	310
2.1 An Overview of Chinese Taipei's Economy	310
2.2 Sub-prime Crisis and Asian Crisis	313
2.3 Key Macroeconomic Indicators	314
2.4 Pattern of Trade Interdependence	322
3. Review of the Related Literature	324
3.1 Motives of Trade Financing Usage	324
3.2 Empirical Research	325
3.3 Related Research for the Credit Granting Behaviour of Chinese Taipei	325
3.4 Research of the Counter-Crisis Policies in Chinese Taipei	326
4. Research Methodology	326
4.1 The Core Variables in the Model	326
4.2 Empirical Results for the Benchmark Model (Q1:1997- Q1:2010)	328
4.3 Empirical Results for Models with Decomposed Trade Financing (Q1:1997- Q1:2010)	332
4.4 Empirical Results for the Pre-Crisis Period (Q1:1997- Q2:2008)	333
5. Policy Implications	337
5.1 Monetary Policy	337
5.2 Trade Relations	338
5.3 Investment Policy and Industry Policy	339
6. Conclusion	341
References	343

Chapter 11

IMPACT OF THE GLOBAL FINANCIAL CRISIS ON THAILAND'S REAL ECONOMY: LINKAGES BETWEEN FINANCIAL AND TRADE SECTOR

By Pongpattananon, N. and Tansuwanarat, K.

1.	Introduction	347
2.	Overview of Thailand's Economic Landscape	348
2.1	The Real Sector	348
2.2	The Financial and Banking Sectors	353
2.3	Economic Stability Indicators	355
3.	The Sub-prime Financial Crisis	357
3.1	Overall Impact on Real Economic Activities	357
3.2	Impact on Financial and Banking Sectors	361
3.3	Thailand's Monetary and Fiscal Policy Responses to the Crisis	362
4.	Literature Review	363
4.1	Impact of the US Sub-prime Crisis on Thailand's Economic Activities	364
4.2	Impact of the US Sub-prime Crisis on Trade Financing Availability	365
5.	Research Methodology	367
5.1	Model Specification	368
5.2	Data and Empirical Testing	370
5.3	Empirical Findings and Analysis	371
6.	Policy Implications and Concluding Remarks	376
	References	378