

Contents

Preface by Moana Jackson ix

Introduction xvii

Stories of Survival: Working Inside the Imposter Legal System

1 Rhetoric, Reality and Recrimination: Striving to Fulfil the Bicultural Commitment at Waikato Law School 3

2 He Whaipaanga Hou Ten Years On: The Impact of He Whaipaanga Hou on Legal Education 37

3 On Being Māori and Being a Lawyer: The Musings of a Māori Legal Academic 51

Talking Back: A Māori View of Pākehā Hopes and Misconceptions

4 Racism in Contemporary Aotearoa: A Pākehā Problem 67

5 Are We All New Zealanders Now? A Māori Response to the Pākehā Quest for Indigeneity 97

The Relationship between Tangata Whenua and the Crown

- | | | |
|---|--|-----|
| 6 | Te Tiriti and the Treaty: Seeking to Reconcile the Irreconcilable in the Name of Truth | 123 |
| 7 | Three (Million) Strikes and Still Not Out: The Crown as the Consummate Recidivist | 147 |

Tikanga Māori and Western Values

- | | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 8 | Collective Rights and Gender Issues: A Māori Woman's Perspective | 179 |
| 9 | Cultural Invasion Continued: The Ongoing Colonisation of Tikanga Māori | 205 |
| 10 | How Will Future Generations Judge Us? Some Thoughts on the Relationship between Crown Law and Tikanga Māori | 251 |

Tikanga at the Centre

- | | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 11 | Whakapapa and Taonga: Connecting the Memory | 285 |
| 12 | Some Implications of a Māori Worldview | 307 |
| | List of Information Sources | 323 |
| | Index | 341 |