

Table of Contents

Preface	v
Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction Kingsley Bolton	x
Part I: The Corpus	1
1 Introducing the Philippine component of the International Corpus of English circa 2010 Ma. Lourdes S. Bautista	3
2 Annotating the ICE-PHI corpus: A work in progress Rachel Edita O. Roxas	23
Part II: Mainly Philippine English	31
3 The grammar and semantics of adverbial disjuncts in Philippine English Shirley N. Dita	33
4 The modal verb would in spoken and written Philippine English Eric Friginal	51
5 Some notes on 'no in Philippine English Ma. Lourdes S. Bautista	75
Part III: Philippine English and Other Englishes	91
6 Patterns of intensifier usage in Philippine English Lilian M. Coronel	93
7 The committee has/have decided... On concord patterns with collective nouns in inner- and outer-circle varieties of English Mariannne Hundt	117
8 Generic pronouns and gender-inclusive language reform in the English of Singapore and the Philippines Anne Pauwels and Joanne Winter	145

9	The subjunctive in Philippine English: An updated assessment Edgar W. Schneider	159
10	Variable agreement in the existential there -construction in Philippine English Peter Collins	175
11	Some aspects of the morphosyntax of Philippine English Ariane M. Borlongan	187
12	Philippine English, among others: An exploration of grammatical 'keywords' in the ICE-Philippines corpus Gerald Nelson and Ren Hongtao	201
13	Lexical trends in Philippine English Thomas Biermeier	223
Part IV: Resources		249
14	A bibliography of Philippine English Ma. Lourdes S. Bautista	251