

Section 1: New Directions in Energy Sustainability and Climate Change

- 1 Imperatives of a Hydrogen Society for South Asia and Pakistan 3
— Aneel Salman, Bilal Hamid and Attique-Ur-Rehman
- 2 Institutionalising State Forest Resources for Adaptation to 41
Climate Change: A Case Study of Uttarkhand State, Himalaya—
Bhagwati Joshi and Prakash C. Tiwari
- 3 Farmers' Perceptions about Climate Change and Food Security: 67
Evidence from South Asia—Bipul Chatterjee and Manbar Khadka

Section 2: Sustainable Livelihood Options and Local Communities

- 4 Whose Right to Livelihood Matters? A Case Study of Local and 109
Migratory Fishermen in Trincomalee, Sri Lanka—Gayathri
Lokuge and Mohamed Munas
- 5 Access to Land Resources: Process of Social Exclusion and Power 137
Relations in Conflict Prone Areas of Nepal—Purna B. Nepali

- 6 ICT as a Rural Livelihood Option: A Study of Nangi Village, Nepal—Safal Ghimire 167

Section 3: Readapting Forest Management

- 7 Contested Forest Ownership: A Study of Swat District, Khyber Pukhtunkhwa, Pakistan—Sultan-i-Rome 191
- 8 Innovative Interventions in Nepal for Implementing REDD+ at the Community Level—Bhaskar Singh Karky, Seema Karki, Eak B. Rana and Rajan Kotru 215

Section 4: Interrogating Religious and Gender Identities

- 9 Debates and Discourses on the Ideals of Polity and Religious Identity in Pakistan—Ali Usman Qasmi 239
- 10 Palestinian Women's Movement: A Missed Opportunity—Fidaa Shehada 259

Section 5: Integrating Policy Processes with Trade and Development

- 11 Cost of Economic Non-Cooperation to Consumers in South Asia—Bipul Chatterjee and Joseph George 285
- 12 Post-MDG Policy Making – Can South Asian Policy Research Organisations make a Difference? –Peter Taylor 315
- 13 Challenges of Reflexive Governance and Sustainable Local Development in Rural Nepal— Tulasi Sharan Sigdel 339