

1. Introduction	i
1.1 Need for micro-insurance	i
1.2. Benefits of micro-insurance	i
1.3. Inaccessibility of the ultra poor to insurance	ii
1.4. UNDP's initiative	iii
2. Risks and Deprivation Faced by the Ultra Poor	iii
3. Analysis of the Micro-insurance Market in Bangladesh	vi
3.1. MFI and NGO role	vi
3.2. Issues for consideration	vii
4. Development of Poor-friendly Micro-insurance Products	viii
4.1. Desirable features of micro-insurance products	viii
4.2. Prototype of group-based models of health, life and livestock insurance	ix
4.3. The way forward	xii
5. Product Delivery and Regulatory Mechanisms	xiii
5.1. Criteria for choosing delivery model	xiv
5.2. Proposed Micro-insurance Regulatory and Supervisory Directives (MRSD)	xv
6. Conclusion	xvii