Contents

Contributors vii
Preface xii

Constitutions as commodities: notes on a theory of transfer
_Günter Frankenberg_

PART I TRANSPLANT, TRANSFER, MIGRATION, ETC. – ONLY WORDS? PROBLEMS OF THEORY AND METHOD

1. Comparative constitutional studies and the discourse on legal transfer
   _Timo Tohidipur_

2. Clotted history and chemical reactions – on the possibility of constitutional transfer
   _Margrit Seckelmann_

3. “One size can fit all” – some heretical thoughts on the mass production of legal transplants
   _Ralf Michaels_

PART II ORDERING GENDER – COMPARING THE CASTING AND RECASTING OF WOMEN AND GENDER RELATIONS IN CONSTITUTIONAL CONTEXTS

4. Gender structures and constitutional law
   _Helena Alviar García_

5. Private but equal? Why the right to privacy will not bring full equality for same-sex couples
   _Nora Markard_

6. Legal transfer of women and fetuses: a trip from German to Portuguese abortion constitutionalism
   _Ruth Rubio Marín_
PART III ORDERING PLURALISM – ALTERNATIVE NORMATIVE ORDERS CHALLENGING THE STATE-CENTEREDNESS OF CONSTITUTIONALISM

7 Legal pluralism and normative transfer
Jennifer Hendry
8 Who is afraid of legal transfers?
Julia Eckert

PART IV ORDERING THE POSTCOLONY – CONSTITUTIONAL BREAKS, CONTINUITIES, AND HYBRIDS

9 “Ordering” constitutional transfers: a view from India
Upendra Baxi
10 Constitutional autochthony and the invention and survival of “absolute presidentialism” in postcolonial Africa
H Kwasi Prempeh

PART V ORDERING HEGEMONY – CONSTITUTIONAL MOMENTS IN OCCUPIED TERRITORIES AND COLONIES

11 Constitution-making in occupied countries
Stefan Kadelbach
12 International influence on post-conflict constitution-making
Philipp Dann
13 German citizenship and its colonial heritage
Felix Hanschmann

PART VI ORDERING EUROPE – EUROPE ORDERING. CONSTITUTIONAL TRANSFERS TO LATIN AMERICA IN THE NINETEENTH AND TWENTIETH CENTURIES

14 Constitutional transfers and experiments in the nineteenth century
Günter Frankenberg
15 Leon Duguit’s influence in Colombia: the lost opportunity of a potentially progressive reform
Helena Alviar García
16 Constitutional grafts and social rights in Latin America
Roberto Gargarella

Index

349

Contributors

Helena Alviar García
Public Policy Institutions, Festrade Anex in Bogotá in the Andes in Colombia, Distributive Justice, Hombrer Edición, Jaramillo, Santillán, Upendra Baxi

Philipp Dann
University of Coimbra: International Cooperation, German Law and Democracy. perspectives of the postconflict constitution-making.

Julia Eckert
Bern, specialized research in state, constitutional transfers are in the context of responsibility. The contributors issues are in Transformancy in Practice.