

Contents

Introduction	1
Section One: China's Positions	3
Chapter 1 China's Positions	5
Overview	5
1. China's Position in the Historical Archives — Before the 1970s	5
2. The 1970s to 1990s — Two Decades with Promising Beginning and Ominous Ending	10
2.1. The Understanding Not Carved Out in Words	14
3. Entering the 1990s: The Critical Timing	15
3.1. Joint Development Attempts in Early 21 st Century	17
4. Recent Rounds of Tensions — 2008 to the Present	19
4.1. The 2012 Nationalisation Plan — Inflammatory Origin	19
4.2. Chinese Reciprocity in Countermeasures	21
4.3. Challenges to the Chinese Perspective — The Wild Nationalistic Sentiments	23
Chapter 2 Historical Arguments	29
Overview	29
1. A General Perspective of Historical Arguments	29
2. Historical Arguments in China's Claims	31
2.1. China's Claims in the Diaoyu Islands Dispute	31
2.2. Implications	35
2.3. China's Claims in the South China Sea Dispute	37
2.4. The Nine-Dotted Line	39

3. Reconsidering “Historical Rights”	40	1.2. Illegal, Unreported and Unregulated Fishing	78
3.1. The Diaoyu Islands Dispute	40	1.3. Fishing: Transformation of an Old Concept: “Sovereignty”and “Security”?	80
3.2. A Legal Explanation of China’s “Historical Arguments”	44	2. China’s Fishing Industry	83
4. Concluding Observations	46	2.1. Rapid Developments after the 1980s	83
4.1. Structural Issues and Challenges	46	2.2. Challenges in Chinese Fishery Industry Development	86
Chapter 3 Issue-Linkage with Taiwan	49	2.3. Overcapacity of Fishing	87
Overview	49	2.4. Depletion of Coastal Marine Environment	89
1. Transformation of the Taiwan Issue	50	2.5. Fishery Legislation and Implementation Issue	92
1.1. The Taiwan Issue under Transformation	50	3. Fishing Activities in East China Sea Disputes: A New Dimension	97
1.2. Growing Taiwan Identity Overshadowing the Diaoyu/Diaoyutai/Senkaku Islands Disputes	51	3.1. “Fishing” as a Historical Right in the East China Sea	97
2. The Beginning of Issue-Linkage with the Taiwan Issue	55	3.2. Emerging Challenges in the Safety of Fishermen in the East China Sea	100
2.1. The Initiation	55	4. Conclusion	104
2.2. Nuances: Names	57	Section Two: Issues with Other Claimants’ Positions	107
3. The “Taiwan Dilemma” of China in the Diaoyu Islands Dispute	60	Chapter 5 The Sovereignty Myth	109
3.1. China’s “Taiwan Dilemma”	61	Overview	109
3.2. China’s Taiwan Dilemma in Contemporary Regional Context	62	1. “Sovereignty” Reconsidered in the Context of Globalisation	110
4. The “Taiwan Dilemma” in China’s Claim: A Legal Perspective	63	1.1. Sovereignty under Transformation	110
4.1. The Legal Vacuum in China’s Claims	63	1.1.1. Sovereignty on the Sea	113
4.2. Reasons and Ramifications of Chinese Resistance to the SFPT	66	2. Territoriality and Territorial Rights	117
4.3. The Political Considerations of China’s Claims	69	2.1. “Territory” as an Unsatisfactory Criterion	117
5. Conclusion	72	2.2. Transformation of Territory: From a Constituent to a Derivative Factor	119
Chapter 4 Challenges to Fishing in the East China Sea	75	3. Issues and Challenges of Transformed Sovereignty and Territorial Rights: Reassessing the Resource Factor	122
Overview	75	3.1. Reassessing the Resource Factor	122
1. Fishing in East Asia	75	3.2. The Resource Link: Exclusiveness v. Inclusiveness	125
1.1. Quickly Depleted Fishing Resources	75	4. Conclusion	128

Chapter 6 Japan's Positions	131
Overview	131
1. Japan's Position	131
1.1. A Brief History	132
1.1.1. The First Inquiry	133
1.1.2. The Second Inquiry	136
2. The Issue-Linkage with the Okinawa Islands Issue	138
2.1. Recent Escalating Tensions	138
2.2. The Okinawa Issue Revisited	140
3. Okinawa v. Ryukyu: What's at Stake and What's Misleading?	144
3.1. Issues at Stake	144
3.2. The Media Reports	147
4. Conclusion	151
Section Three: Issues and Challenges on the Sea	153
Chapter 7 China's Law Enforcement Agency on the Sea	155
Overview	155
1. The Law Enforcement Agency: A General View	156
2. The China Story	156
2.1. Marine Affairs Administration Structure before 2013 and Its Dilemma	156
2.1.1. Maritime Affairs Administration	157
2.1.2. Marine Law Enforcement Agencies — To Pull Apart the System Limb from Limb?	159
2.1.3. The Two Major Organs	160
2.2. Institutional Challenges in Current Political Environment	161
2.3. Implications — The Blurring of Legal and Civil Boundaries	163
3. The Reform in 2013: What Triggered the Reform?	166
3.1. A Sequence of Maritime Territorial Scraps	166
3.2. New Initiative of Marine Affairs Administration Reform	170
4. The Restructuring of Current Marine Affairs Administration	171
4.1. Prelude of the Reform — A New Task Force Established in the Second Half of 2012	171
4.2. Act Two — Intra-Ministerial Restructuring	173
4.3. The Finale or the Beginning of a New Theatre?	174
4.3.1. The Official Launch of the New State Oceanic Administration	174
5. Prospect: A Ministry of Oceanic Affairs and a Basic Law?	178
5.1. The Horizontal and Vertical Structural Shortcomings	179
5.2. Challenges to a New Marine Affairs Administration — A Basic Law or Rising of a New Super Bureaucracy?	181
Chapter 8 Re-Contemplation from the View of Conflict Management	185
Overview	185
1. The Role of Law in Claimants' Positions	185
1.1. Applicable Law: Domestic and International	186
1.1.1. Conformity and Incongruence	187
2. Joint Development: How Far Can It Go?	190
2.1. Joint Development in East Asia: A Good Idea in an Immature Environment	190
2.2. Joint Development: Mere Negotiation Tactics?	192
2.2.1. Chinese Proposal — "Joint Development"	192
2.2.2. Japanese Positions: A Narrow Gate to Joint Development	197
3. Marine Resources: Sovereignty, EEZs and Resource Rights	201
3.1. Sovereignty and Resource Rights	201
3.1.1. A Resource Perspective to Accommodate Taiwan's Participation	202
3.2. A Green Right Emerging to Exclude in the EEZ?	203
4. Conclusion	207

Section Four: Other Emerging Challenges	209
Chapter 9 Epilogue	211
Overview	211
1. Aviation Freedom in the Diaoyu Islands/ East China Sea	211
1.1. China's Air Defence Identification Zone in East China Sea	211
1.2. Implications	213
1.2.1. Observations — The Initiative and Intention	213
1.2.2. Observations — The Receiving Ends	214
2. Taiwan and Its Real Pursuit: The East China Sea Peace Initiative	217
2.1. Taiwan's Real Pursuit: Peace v. Sovereignty	217
2.2. The Fishery Agreement: Realistic Interests v. Inviolable Sovereignty	220
3. Concluding Observations	222
Index	227