

CONTENTS

Preface and acknowledgements	v
Foreword	vii
List of contributors	xv

Responsive-and-responsible financial regulation in the aftermath of the global financial crisis

Pablo IGLESIAS-RODRÍGUEZ	1
1. Introduction	1
2. Responsive-and-responsible financial regulators	4
2.1. The dimensions of responsive-and-responsible financial regulation and the pre-crisis failures of financial regulators	7
2.1.1. The pursuing of the statutory mandates of financial regulation and supervision	7
2.1.2. The unbiased pursuing of the interests of stakeholders within the financial realm	10
2.1.3. The pursuing of social returns	13
3. The role of accountability in responsive-and-responsible financial regulation	17
4. Contents and structure of the book	20

PART I. THE CONTRIBUTION OF ACCOUNTABILITY, INDEPENDENCE AND ECONOMIC THEORY TO RESPONSIVE-AND-RESPONSIBLE FINANCIAL REGULATION

Financial institutions and accountability mechanisms

Rosa María LASTRA.....	31
1. Introduction	31
2. Accountability, legitimacy and transparency	35
3. Political and technical accountability	37
4. Monetary and supervisory independence and accountability	39
5. Concluding observations.....	41

Central bank governance, society and politicians: the tale of independence
Donato MASCIANDARO	43
1. Introduction	43
2. Designing the central bank governance and the role of independence: insights from the economic literature	46
3. Citizens, politicians and the design of the central bank independence: the theoretical framework	55
4. The central bank independence before and after the crisis: ups and downs	59
5. Conclusion	64
The ultrarational illusion of finance. Economics and policymaking
Xosé Carlos ARIAS and Antón COSTAS	67
1. Introduction	67
2. When a theory is more than an argument: the efficient market hypothesis	68
3. From theory to an entire belief system	74
4. The EMH in the wake of the storm: a shift in paradigm?	81
5. Conclusions	85
PART II. POST-CRISIS ARCHITECTURES OF FINANCIAL REGULATION IN THE EUROPEAN UNION, THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND CANADA: ACCOUNTABILITY AND RESPONSIVENESS- AND-RESPONSIBILITY
Part II.1. THE EUROPEAN UNION
Governing financial market regulation: a cascade from intergovernmental bank resolution, to prudential regulation, to conduct regulation
Nicholas DORN	91
1. Scope and introduction	91
2. Comparative perspectives: market conduct regulation	92
3. Heads of prudential agencies: appointment the norm	96
4. Intergovernmentality: new lynchpin for banking regulation	98
5. National parliaments: democracy or dispersal	103
6. Conundrums of the new political architecture	107
7. Acknowledgements	113

The European Securities and Markets Authority: accountability towards EU institutions and stakeholders

	Carmine DI NOIA and Matteo GARGANTINI	115
1.	Introduction	116
2.	The creation of ESMA	117
3.	Independence and accountability of financial regulators: an overview ..	119
4.	ESMA accountability: governance and procedures	123
4.1.	The governance of ESMA	124
4.1.1.	The governing bodies of the authority	124
4.1.2.	The Securities and Markets Stakeholder Group	130
4.2.	The performance of regulatory and supervisory functions.	138
4.2.1.	The regulatory powers of ESMA	140
4.2.1.1.	The reformed regulatory architecture	140
4.2.1.2.	Strengthening regulatory harmonisation. The new quasi-rulemaking powers	144
4.2.1.3.	The role of the Securities and Markets Stakeholder Group	151
4.2.2.	The supervisory powers of ESMA	154
4.2.2.1.	Cross-sectoral supervisory powers: addressing national competent authorities and market participants	154
4.2.2.2.	ESMA as a single EU supervisor: the case of credit rating agencies	163
5.	Evaluating the regulatory and supervisory architecture: some reform proposals.	165
5.1.	In the shadow – or in the light? – of Meroni and Romano. The institutional tensions framing the powers of ESMA	165
5.2.	Evaluation of efficiency. Rulemaking	170
5.2.1.	Reform proposals for rulemaking functions: centralization vs. monopolization	173
5.2.2.	Feasibility according to the Meroni doctrine and the EU Treaties	176
5.3.	Evaluation of efficiency. Supervision	178
5.3.1.	Reform proposals for supervisory functions: integration vs. uniformity	181

The role of civil society in EU financial regulation

	Guillaume PRACHE	185
1.	Introduction: a crucial and outstanding issue for the European economy and democracy.	185

2.	The current representation of financial services users and of the civil society at large	186
2.1.	The creation of Better Finance (the European Federation of Financial Services Users) in 2009.....	186
2.2.	The creation of Finance Watch in 2011.....	188
3.	Competencies are not the main issue for a balanced role between the financial sector and civil society	189
3.1.	'Level one' EU authorities.....	190
3.2.	'Level two' EU authorities.....	191
4.	Resources: one of the key unfulfilled requirements identified by the EC since 2009.....	194
4.1.	Emerging support for European civil society organisations involved in financial services policy	194
4.2.	Improved support to individual user experts in 'level one' European authorities.....	198
4.3.	Inadequate support to user experts in 'level two' European authorities.....	199
5.	No equal access to the European authorities.....	202
5.1.	No or unbalanced representation in EU consultative bodies	202
5.2.	The governance of EU authorities	205
5.3.	The events organised by the international public financial authorities.....	207
5.4.	The participation of EU politicians and executives to outside initiatives and events.....	208
5.5.	The meetings of EU officials with third parties	209
6.	Conclusion: time for change.....	210

Part II.2. THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Financial stability rearticulated: institutional reform, post-crisis governance and the new regulatory landscape in the United States

David S. BIERI..... 215

1.	Overview.....	215
2.	The quest for financial stability.....	217
3.	The institutional arrangements of U.S. financial regulation.....	219
3.1.	Micro-prudential entities.....	219
3.2.	Macro-prudential framework.....	221
4.	The CFPB as a post-crisis response.....	222
4.1.	Institutional focus and policy mandate.....	223
4.2.	Financial stability as a public good.....	225
4.3.	Regulatory governance and the accountability challenge.....	226
4.3.1.	Global governance.....	227

4.3.2. National accountability	228
5. Regulatory lessons from the recent financial crisis	231

The Financial Industry Regulatory Authority: not self-regulation after all

Hester PEIRCE	233
1. The emergence of FINRA	234
2. FINRA's functions	240
3. FINRA's accountability structure	244
4. FINRA's comparative lack of accountability	246
5. FINRA's regulatory aspirations	249
6. Conclusion	252

Part II.3. CANADA

Why opacity is just not good enough: the effectiveness and accountability of Canada's Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions

Ian ROBERGE and Dona M. DUNEA	255
1. The effectiveness and accountability of financial services sector regulators	257
1.1. Effectiveness	257
1.2. Accountability	261
2. Canada	264
2.1. Effectiveness	264
2.2. Accountability	267
3. Key lessons	271