

Contents

1	Situating the Debate	1
	I. A Brief Chronology of the Prevention of Child Soldiering	1
	II. Conceptualising an 'Era of Application'	5
	III. 'The Politics of Age'	9
	IV. Conceptualising the 'Child Soldier'	13
	V. The Potential Role of International Law in Preventing Child Soldiering	17
	VI. Summary	21
2	Contemporary Child Soldiering: Distribution, Use and Causes	25
	I. Distribution of Child Soldiers	26
	A. The 'Child Soldier Global Reports'	29
	i. Child Soldier Distribution Trends: the 'Global Reports'	33
	B. The United Nations Secretary-General's List of Parties Who Use and Recruit Child Soldiers	35
	C. Summary	38
	II. The Contemporary Use of Child Soldiers	39
	A. Child Soldier Use as an Asymmetric Conflict Structure	39
	B. Modern Armed Conflict, National Armed Forces and the Use and Recruitment of Child Soldiers	41
	III. Causes of Child Soldiering	44
	A. Overarching Causes of the Child Soldier Phenomenon	44
	i. The Common Causes versus Sui Generis Approach	45
	ii. Forced versus Voluntary Recruitment	47
	iii. The Cognitive Development of Children	48
	B. Proximate Causes of Child Soldiering	49
	IV. Summary	52
3	International Humanitarian Law and the Prevention of Child Soldiering	53
	I. The Geneva Conventions	55
	II. Additional Protocol I to the Geneva Conventions	58
	A. Take all Feasible Measures	61
	B. Take a Direct Part in Hostilities	62
	C. Shall Refrain from Recruiting Them	69
	D. Their Armed Forces	70
	III. Additional Protocol II to the Geneva Conventions	71
	IV. Conclusion	73

4 International Human Rights Law and International Humanitarian Law: An Integrated International Law Response to the Prevention of Child Soldiering	75
I. The Co-application of IHRL and IHL in the Prevention of the Use and Recruitment of Child Soldiers	76
A. The 'Humanisation' of IHL	78
B. The Convergence of IHL and IHRL	79
C. Resolving Norm Conflict	80
i. More Favourable Principle	82
ii. Lex specialis derogat legi generali	83
D. IHL and IHRL: Potential Conflict of Norms	87
II. The Substantive Content of Child Soldier Prohibitive Norms: Human Rights Law	89
A. Convention on the Rights of the Child	89
B. Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child	91
C. International Labour Organization Convention 182	96
D. African Charter on the Rights and Welfare of the Child	97
III. The Substantive Content of Child Soldier Prohibitive Norms: Customary International Law	98
A. Status of Ratification of Relevant Instruments	103
IV. Summary	103
5 International Criminal Responsibility and the Prosecution of Individuals for the Enlistment, Conscriptioin and Use of Child Soldiers	105
I. The Enlistment, Conscriptioin and Use of Child Soldiers as a War Crime: Background and Drafting History	106
A. The Child Recruitment Decision	108
i. The Proscriptive Content of the Relevant Customary Crime	109
ii. Differentiating between the Existence of a Criminal Norm and the Principles of Legality and Specificity	111
B. The Drafting of the Rome Statute	116
II. 'Using, Conscripting or Enlisting' Children in Terms of the Positive Law	118
A. Chapeau Requirements	119
B. Objective Requirements	122
i. Enlistment and Conscriptioin	123
ii. Use to Participate Actively in Hostilities	125
C. Subjective Requirements	129
III. The Potential of International Criminal Law to Combat the Child Soldier Phenomenon	132

A.	The ICC as a Deterrent to the Enlistment, Conscription or Use of Child Soldiers	132
B.	The Role of the ICC in Building Capacity in Municipal Legal Systems	135
i.	Universal Jurisdiction	135
ii.	The Age of Criminal Responsibility	137
IV.	The Criminal Responsibility of Child Soldiers	137
V.	Summary	139
6	International Institutional Law and the Prevention of Child Soldiering	143
I.	The Proper Levels of Engagement with Child Soldier Prevention within the United Nations	145
II.	A Critical Appraisal of United Nations Initiatives Engaged with Child Soldier Prevention	147
A.	Historical Background	149
B.	The Committee on the Rights of the Child	151
i.	The Limitations of the Mandate of the Committee	152
ii.	The Committee's Approach to Exercising its Mandate	157
C.	The Security Council	159
i.	Monitoring and Reporting Mechanism and the Security Council Working Group	162
D.	The Office of the Special Representative to the Secretary-General on Children and Armed Conflict	164
III.	African Union Engagement with Child Soldier Prevention	167
A.	The African Committee of Experts on the Rights and Welfare of the Child	167
B.	African Court on Human and Peoples' Rights	168
i.	Subject-Matter Jurisdiction	169
ii.	Locus Standi	171
IV.	Summary	174
7	Case Study: The Democratic Republic of the Congo	177
I.	Methodology	178
II.	The Contemporary Conflict Landscape in the DRC: From the Demise of Mobuto to the Force Intervention Brigade	182
III.	Municipal and International Criminal Prosecutions for the Use and Recruitment of Child Soldiers in the DRC	185
A.	The International Criminal Court	185
B.	Municipal Courts in the DRC	187
IV.	The United Nations and the Prevention of Child Soldiering in the DRC	189
A.	Engagement by the United Nations Peace Mission in the DRC and UNICEF with Child Soldier Prevention	190

B. The Special Representative to the Secretary-General on Children and Armed Conflict	194
C. The Security Council Monitoring and Reporting Mechanism	197
D. The Demobilisation, Disarmament and Reintegration of Child Soldiers in the DRC	201
V. Summary	206
8 Conclusion	207
I. The Enforceability of International Law Norms Prohibiting Child Soldiering	207
A. The Relationship between International Humanitarian Law and International Human Rights Law	208
B. Shortcomings of the Contemporary Prohibitions of Child Soldiering	210
II. The Refinement of International Law Enforcement Mechanisms Aimed at the Prevention of Child Soldiering	212
A. The Refinement of United Nations Mechanisms Aimed at Child Soldier Prevention	213
i. The Special Representative to the Secretary-General on Children and Armed Conflict	213
ii. The Committee on the Rights of the Child	214
iii. The Security Council	214
B. The Refinement of African Union Mechanisms Aimed at Child Soldier Prevention	215
C. The Refinement of the International Criminal Court in Relation to Child Soldier Prevention	216
III. Conclusion: Shifting Focus from Norm Creation to Norm Enforcement, the Requisites for an 'Era of Application'	217
Bibliography	221
Index	255